

Early childhood experiences causes
Structural changes in the brain

OUR PHILOSOPHY

It is essential that families participate in therapy sessions in order to observe strategies that needs to be carried over during daily family routines. This is an important element in assisting children with special needs.

This team building process is valuable in helping children reach developmental milestones and addressing whole child development.

Who We Are

About Us

Destiny Early Childhood Consulting & Developmental services, LLC. Is a privately owned and operated early intervention provider. Our developmental therapy is structured around whole child development and the child-centered approach to learning. Therapy is conducted in the child's natural setting and parents are encouraged to be actively involved.

WHO WE SERVE

Destiny Early Childhood Consulting & Developmental Services provides therapy to children who have transitioned out of early intervention services, but still require therapy. We service preschool to 3rd grade children who are demonstrating developmental delays.

WHAT IS DEVELOPMENTAL THERAPY?

Developmental therapy focuses on whole child development. We utilize play in order to integrate social, emotional, physical, cognitive, and language development in therapy sessions. We focus on children's developmental stage in order to assist in meeting developmental milestones.

Has your child transitioned out of early intervention but still requires therapy? Our services can assist your needs.

---

- Are you concerned about obtaining developmental services after your child transitions out of early intervention?
- What if your child does not qualify through the board of education?
- Does that mean that your child does not require developmental intervention?
